

List of papers appearing in the “Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing” (updated May 19, 2017)

Vol.1, No. 1

No paper appeared.

Vol. 2, No. 1

Miyata, H. (1996). A study on the awareness of the female care-giver taking care of the elderly at home. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 2(1), 21-27.

Sano, Y., Sugishita, C., & Kataoka, Y. (1996). The effect of walking on blood pressure changes and accelerated plethysmogram (APG) in middle aged and elderly people with hypertension. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 2(1), 28-35.

Nagata, K., Suzuki, K., Goto, S., & Kobayashi, K. (1996). An attempt to reduce the orthostatic hypotension of the bedridden aged persons: Resitting-up method. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 2(1), 36-41.

Vol. 3, No. 1

Takeda, J., Furuya, K., Maru, M., Kanematsu, Y., Uchida, M., Suzuki, K., & Watanabe, H. (1997). Pediatric nurses recognition and practice of family assessment. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 3(1), 30-37.

Tomoda, H., & Sugishita, C. (1997). Review of three cases of mothers who abused children. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 3(1), 38-46.

Suzuki, K., & Watanabe, H. (1997). Activities and their significance at the endowed department of family nursing, the Chiba university school of nursing. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 3(1), 47-49.

Vol. 4, No. 1

Ota, N., Suzuki, K., Watanabe, H., & Kanematsu, Y. (1998). The cognition of pediatric nurse related to family care. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 4(1), 2-9.

Nakagawa, E. (1998). Factors that nurture affirmative feelings toward child rearing by young unwed mothers: The relationship with the household's human environment as relates to the rearing environment. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 4(1), 10-17.

Torii, H., & Sugishita, C. (1998). Problems that occur among siblings when their mothers accompany a hospitalized sibling: Considering support to families. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 4(1), 18-23.

Vol. 4, No. 2

Uchida, M. (1999). Mothers' experiences during bone marrow transplantation of their children: Nursing care for finding meaning through their own experiences. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 4(2), 109-118.

Hohashi, N., Matsumoto, K., & Sugishita, C. (1999). National survey of actual conditions related to MRSA conducted through home-visit nursing care station: Focusing on incidence of MRSA and problems related to home care. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 4(2), 119-124.

Nakamura, K., Makino, A., & Ieki, K. (1999). Mammary troubles of NICU babies' mothers discovered from the breastfeeding and maternal care room records. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 4(2), 125-131.

Vol. 5, No. 1

- Yamamoto-Mitani, N., & Sugishita, C. (1999). Discharge education for patients with neurological disease and their families: Perception of patients, families and nurses. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 5(1), 3-8.
- Kawahara, K., & Iida, S. (1999). Characteristics of care burden for families taking care of stroke patients with higher brain impairment. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 5(1), 9-16.
- Toima, M., Shiraishi, H., & Moriyama, M. (1999). Factors of noncompliance occurring in the family relationships of diabetic patients and nursing intervention that invoked therapeutic changes. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 5(1), 17-25.

Vol. 5, No. 2

- Hasegawa, K., Ishigaki, K., Matsumura, K., & Saito, H. (2000). Caregivers' burden and the relationship to disabled relatives among the families that are awaiting nursing home placement. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 5(2), 86-93.
- Maeda, M., Hohashi, N., & Sugishita, C. (2000). Survey of actual conditions regarding family members accompanying sick children at Tokyo metropolitan hospitals with beds of 100 or greater. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 5(2), 94-100.

Vol. 6, No. 1

- Hohashi, N., Maeda, M., & Sugishita, C. (2000). Development of the Japanese-language Feetham Family Functioning Survey (FFFS) and evaluation of its effectiveness. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 6(1), 2-10.

Vol. 6, No. 2

- Narama, M. (2001). Changes of the evaluation management in home of young children with anorectal malformation after surgery and parenting stress of their mothers: The examination of the effectiveness of nursing intervention which focused on the regularity of defecation and the independence of defecation habits. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 6(2), 114-121.
- Asano, M., Tateoka, Y., Kinefuchi, E., Mori, H., & Miyasato, K. (2001). Trends in family nursing research in the area of maternal and child nursing from 1993. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 6(2), 122-132.

Vol. 7, No. 1

- Suganuma, H., Kushima, H., & Miyasato, K. (2001). Actual conditions and relationships of life-events and symptoms in climacteric women. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 7(1), 2-8.
- Hattori, R. (2001). Parental attitudes towards 2-to-4-year-old high risk children. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 7(1), 9-15.

Vol. 7, No. 2

- Miura, M. (2002). The structure of nurses' cognition on patients' families in the hospital and the relation of its elements. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 7(2), 130-137.
- Matsuzaka, Y., & Suzuki, K. (2002). A comparative study of family care between public health nurses and home visiting nurses in home care. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 7(2), 138-144.
- Yakura, N., & Haraguchi, Y. (2002). The actual status of fathers' participation in child-rearing and related factors:

From a questionnaire survey conducted by the maternal and child health support association of Town K. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 7(2), 145-151.

Vol. 8, No. 1

Matsuda, N., Murata, K., Kusaba, H., Okubo, N., Arita, N., & Ono, T. (2002). Level of functioning and related factors in households with chronically ill children. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 8(1), 2-8.

Hashimoto, S. (2002). Family efforts in adjusting living environment for home care of children suffering from severe cerebral palsy. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 8(1), 9-16.

Kobayashi, N., & Sugishita, C. (2002). Consideration of expressions for visiting nurses for effective concerns with families providing health care to their family members. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 8(1), 17-22.

Vol. 8, No. 2

Furuse, M. (2003). A study of the process of perceived difficulties by family caregivers of the frail elderly: Analysis of what caregivers sense about their own caregiving experience and what others feel about it. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 8(2), 154-162.

Tomari, Y., Kokabu, H., Tanaka, K., & Takemura, J. (2003). Role taking and interaction of the children with disabilities and their siblings on everyday play activities. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 8(2), 163-172.

Nakamura, Y. (2003). The functions of families with infants under 18 months old using the Japanese version of FDM II. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 8(2), 173-180.

Tsuboi, S., Niino, N., Ando, F., Fujimoto, Y., Saito, I., Kato, M., & Shimokata, H. (2003). Death anxiety: A comparison between elderly inpatients' family and dead elderly patients' family. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 8(2), 181-187.

Tanaka, C., Hamabe, F., Hirota, A., & Oba, C. (2003). The practice of the respite service for families with handicapped children (persons) at home and the evaluation. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 8(2), 188-196.

Sato, N. (2003). Characteristics of cognition of nurse regarding family nursing. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 8(2), 197-203.

Maehara, K., Hohashi, N., & Sugishita, C. (2003). Development of a two-dimensional tool for assessment of mother and family functioning after childbirth. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 8(2), 204-215.

Vol. 9, No. 1

Fujiwara, C. (2003). Development of parental coping strategies scale during hospitalization of their children. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 9(1), 2-9.

Suzuki, K., Shikimori, H., & Watanabe, H. (2003). The process and characteristics of family nursing consultation. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 9(1), 10-17.

Murata, K., Kusaba, H., Ono, T., Matsuda, N., Okubo, N., & Arita, N. (2003). Factors related to level of family functioning in household with chronically ill children: The examination based on the long-term family care model, an application of Hymovich's Model. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 9(1), 18-25.

Nagato, K., Ookawa, N., & Kawakami, M. (2003). A description of nursing care for families of cancer patient. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 9(1), 26-36.

Imoto, A. (2003). Factors affecting mothers' decision for their children's discharge: Cases requiring continued medical care. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 9(1), 37-43.

Hohashi, N., Ishimi, S., Iwata, S., & Takeshige, T. (2003). A nationwide survey of the status of family accommodations for families of children with chronic illnesses and their status of utilization: Problems and issues in making facilities easier to use for families. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 9(1), 44-49.

Vol. 9, No. 2

No paper appeared.

Vol. 9, No. 3

Watanabe, T., Koyama, Y., & Yamada, K. (2004). A study on relationship between burden of caregivers with aphasic patients and communicative ability of the patients. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 9(3), 80-87.

Aoki, N. (2004). The support and concern by families regarding schizophrenic patients construction of their "ibasho": During the transition from the hospital to the community. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 9(3), 88-97.

Hohashi, N., Ishimi, S., Iwata, S., & Takeshige, T. (2004). Effects on family functions of parents accompanying hospitalized children: Considerations based on duration of accompaniment using Japanese version I of the Feetham Family Functioning Survey. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 9(3), 98-105.

Segawa, H., & Noguchi, T. (2004). Implications for nursing practice from the relationship family system for the terminal cancer patients between and main care worker of stress. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 9(3), 106-112.

Torii, H., Mori, H., & Sugishita, C. (2004). Awareness of nursing professionals toward family nursing: From the results of a survey of this association's members. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 9(3), 113-122.

Vol. 10, No. 1

Sato, K., & Takahashi, M. (2004). Measurement of the effects of the enhancement of body sensation in maternity classes: For supporting better families in the future. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 10(1), 2-9.

Kajitani, M., Futoyu, Y., & Shiraiwa, Y. (2004). A study of psychological process and relationship between patients with cerebrovascular accident and main caregivers in the family. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 10(1), 10-20.

Hohashi, N., & Koyama, C. (2004). A Japan-U.S. comparison of family functions from the perspective of mothers utilizing "family houses": Cross-cultural research using the Feetham Family Functioning Survey. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 10(1), 21-31.

Etou, S., Matsunaga, C., & Nishi, K. (2004). A qualitative investigation of the experience of a patient of adolescent chronic renal disease. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 10(1), 32-38.

Vol. 10, No. 2

No paper appeared.

Vol. 10, No. 3

Kaminiwa, J., Fujiu, K., & Iida, S. (2005). A study on anxieties about childcare in child rearing families and related factors (first report). Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 10(3), 68-77.

Furuse, M. (2005). A study of the process of the home care stabilization of the medical care dependent patient from the perspective of visiting nurses. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 10(3), 78-86.

Miyachi, Y., & Tomari, Y. (2005). Factors related to the intimacy that school-age children experience with their grandparents. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 10(3), 87-94.

Vol. 11, No. 1

Nakamura, Y. (2005). The construction of family function model in families during the nurturing period by covariance structure analysis. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 11(1), 2-12.

Inoue, R. (2005). Support for a mother with a mother-child relationship problem and abusive experience. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 11(1), 13-23.

Araki, A., Kanematsu, Y., Yokosawa, S., Arayashiki, A., Aizumi, I., & Endo, T. (2005). Parenting stress among mothers with infant and toddler: Analysis of relationship between free descriptions and Japanese version of Parenting Stress Index. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 11(1), 24-33.

Hohashi, N., & Kamo, S. (2005). Actual condition survey of facility conditions and utilization status of “family houses” throughout Japan: Focused on family support houses other than the accommodation facilities for families of children with chronic diseases. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 11(1), 34-41.

Hohashi, N., & Kamo, S. (2005). A study of the family functions of users of family houses: Investigation on staying mothers of hospitalized children using the FFFS. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 11(1), 42-49.

Vol. 11, No. 2

No paper appeared.

Vol. 11, No. 3

Kusaba, H., Tsuruta, K., Nomaguchi, C., Nakatomi, R., Yamada, M., & Murakata, T. (2006). Self-efficacy of mothers attending their hospitalized children. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 11(3), 90-97.

Tanaka, M., & Nomoto, H. (2006). Effects of interventions for family of aged patient has fractured cervix of femur: On interview with family members over discharge. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 11(3), 98-107.

Kikuchi, K. (2006). Considering care for family members in families with a terminal cancer patient and the families of the deceased: From interviews with the families of the deceased. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 11(3), 108-115.

Vol. 12, No. 1

Takemura, J., & Tomari, Y. (2006). The acquisition processes of parental nurturing behaviors by fathers of children with disabilities. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 12(1), 2-10.

Amasa, K., & Tomari, Y. (2006). Family function and the burden imposed on the parents of adolescent and young-adult with schizophrenia patients. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 12(1), 11-21.

Takaoka, K., Ohmachi, Y., & Taira, Y. (2006). Self care of women with type 2-diabetes who have family roles. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 12(1), 22-31.

Kigoshi, I., & Tomari, Y. (2006). Father's role acquisition process in the perinatal period. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 12(1), 32-38.

Vol. 12, No. 2

No paper appeared.

Vol. 12, No. 3

- Chiba, A., Takemori, K., Yamamoto, H., & Asada, Y. (2007). Research on the spread process of the educational effect from participants in low salt study to their families. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 12(3), 90-100.
- Eguchi, C., Fuzimoto, T., Toima, M., & Shouno, I. (2007). Intervening with families struggling because of shotgun weddings: The effects of satisfaction of the developmental tasks and interviews. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 12(3), 101-111.
- Wakimizu, R., Ozeki, S., & Kamibeppu, K. (2007). Psychological distress and related factors during hospitalization among young patients undergoing minor surgery in a Japanese suburban hospital. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 12(3), 112-124.
- Imaoka, M., & Tomari, Y. (2007). The characteristic of family nursing process in serious and intensive unit. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 12(3), 125-132.
- Uryu, H., & Nojima, S. (2007). Nursing strategies to alleviate cognitive dissonance between patients and their families. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 12(3), 133-143.
- Watanabe, K., Nomura, K., & Okano, H. (2007). Visiting Nurses' changes in their perception and attitudes toward consulted families: Evaluation of home nursing society based on the interview of a nurse. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 12(3), 144-152.
- Kadoma, A., Asano, M., & Nomura, N. (2007). A literature review on child-rearing by single mothers in Japan. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 12(3), 153-161.

Vol. 13, No. 1

- Yamamoto, H., Chiba, A., Asada, Y., & Takemori, K. (2007). The possibility of effects from participant in the salt restriction class that used scenario study to their family members. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(1), 2-10.
- Yamamura, E., Fujiu, K., & Iida, S. (2007). Disease recognition by home-dwelling patients with Parkinson's disease and their families. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(1), 11-18.
- Yamamoto-Mitani, N., Okamoto, Y., Suzuki, I., Okada, S., & Ishigaki, K. (2007). Development of the quality indicators on family support in home care nursing for older adults. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(1), 19-28.
- Higuchi, K., Marui, E., & Takao, T. (2007). The meaning of learning process of medical care by family caregiver. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(1), 29-36.
- Hohashi, N., Kobayashi, K., & Takagi, A. (2007). Characteristics of children with Prader-Willi Syndrome brought up in the home and family functions thereof. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(1), 37-44.
- Honda, J., & Hohashi, N. (2007). An ethnographic study on family functions of child-rearing households in Hong Kong: With a focus on the implementation of family functions. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(1), 45-52.
- Sasaki, Y., & Takahashi, M. (2007). Assessment of spousal relationships before and after the birth of the first child from the viewpoint of fathers: Analysis by the Family Image Test (FIT). Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(1), 53-61.

Nursing, 13(1), 53-59.

- Watanabe, K., Nomura, K., Inukai, M., Terashima, T., & Okano, H. (2007). Nurses' emotions and thinking processes during intervention to families of dying patient with cancer: Through interviews to nurses working in a middle-sized surgical hospital. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(1), 60-66.
- Saida, E. (2007). Learning from cases in which people desiring to die at home nevertheless expired in hospital: Analysis of wives' thoughts. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(1), 67-71.

Vol. 13, No. 2

No paper appeared.

Vol. 13, No. 3

- Nagato, K., & Nojima, S. (2008). Development and validation of a "Family Management Scale": The competence to manage family life while living with chronically ill individuals. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(3), 81-92.
- Okamoto, Y., Suzuki, I., Okada, S., Ishigaki, K., & Yamamoto-Mitani, N. (2008). Quality indicators for family support of older home care nursing clients: Examining their applicability based on a national survey. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(3), 93-102.
- Hirahara, N., & Suzuki, K. (2008). Experiences of families with a member who survived subarachnoid hemorrhage. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(3), 103-113.
- Murata, K., & Uchi, M. (2008). Development and validation of assessment questionnaire to support families of children with chronic health conditions. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(3), 114-123.
- Miura, M., Nakamura, R., & Kubo, Y. (2008). The differences in perception between the families of hospitalized patients and nurses regarding their attitude toward families. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(3), 124-131.
- Saeki, A., & Otsubo, Y. (2008). The relationship between family functions and primary caregiver burden in home care of an elderly family member with dementia. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(3), 132-142.
- Hongo, M., Tumura, C., & Ueno, M. (2008). Public health nurse's support for the mothers by use of mother group activities for prevention of child abuse and neglect. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(3), 143-149.
- Kawano, E., Hirono, M., Torii, H., & Hishiyama, Y. (2008). Support for families with male primary caregivers: Focusing on family living capacity. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(3), 150-157.
- Toyoshima, Y., Fujiu, K., & Iida, S. (2008). Family member assessment of home visit nursing service for clients with psychiatric disorders. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(3), 158-164.
- Hiratani, Y., & Hohashi, N. (2008). Trends in the literature on one-patient families in Japan and nursing research issues. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 13(3), 165-172.

Vol. 14, No. 1

- Hosokawa, M., & Ishinabe, K. (2008). Changes in the behavior and perception of nurses working for family nursing care toward the promotion of life support in convalescent hospitals: By action research intervention. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(1), 2-9.
- Fukahori, H., Yamamoto-Mitani, N., Sugiyama, T., Kai, I., & Sugishita, C. (2008). "Family caregiving in institutional settings” implemented by family members who regularly visit their relatives living in nursing homes. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(1), 10-20.

Sakamoto, A., Ikezoe, S., & Nojima, S. (2008). The schema of living with the illness on families of youth Parkinson’s patients. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(1), 21-31.

Sakanoue, K., & Kobayashi, N. (2008). The impact of inflammatory bowel disease on family functioning and quality of life: A study of IBD patients’ society in Kyushu. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(1), 32-40.

Makita, H., & Iida, S. (2008). Living conditions of spouse caregivers after the loss of their elderly partners. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(1), 41-47.

Kitagawa, K. (2008). Methods of conducting support group meetings to promote empowerment among mothers of handicapped children and adults. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(1), 48-57.

Nagasawa, K., & Iida, S. (2008). Factors related to the continuation of caregiving among male caregivers. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(1), 58-67.

Fukahori, H., Kubo, N., & Kawada, M. (2008). Associations between among visiting nurses encouraging family caregivers’ positive appraisal of their caregiving and work-related stress. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(1), 68-76.

Vol. 14, No. 2

No paper appeared.

Vol. 14, No. 3

Furuse, M., & Matsunami, Y. (2009). Self-care behaviors within the adaptation process of home nursing for families with patients requiring invasive ventilation. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(3), 2-10.

Kaneko, T., Nojima, S., & Nagatao, K. (2009). Process of family control among the caregivers of amyotrophic lateral sclerosis (ALS) patients. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(3), 11-19.

Ikezoe, S., & Nojima, S. (2009). A vicious in the formation of family’s career of care-giving in the reconstruction of family life. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(3), 20-29.

Yamamoto-Mitani, N., Katakura, N., Fujita, J., Shinohara, Y., Sonoda, Y., & Ishigaki, K. (2009). Developing home healthcare nursing quality indicators for family support: An evaluation through nursing chart review. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(3), 30-40.

Nakashita, T., Satou, Y., & Ono, A. (2009). The family giver by yogo teacher for special support school. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(3), 41-48.

Ito, A., Yanagihara, K., & Tanaka, K. (2009). Family nursing and empowerment for mother of children with severe intellectual disabilities receiving living kidney transplants: Content analysis of nursing records. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(3), 49-56.

Ohashi, Y., & Asano, M. (2009). Literature in Japan on “parenthood” and similar words: Aiming at clarification of the “parenthood” concept. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 14(3), 57-65.

Vol. 15, No. 1

Sumiya, H., & Kajimoto, I. (2009). Perceptions of family care needs in psychiatric outpatient clinic nurses who have over five years of nursing experience. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(1), 2-11.

Nio, K. (2009). Parent’s perceptions of independence in adolescents with Down Syndrome. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(1), 12-21.

- Yamauchi, A., Tanaka, K., Inoue, N., Takeuchi, K., Kisiyama, S., Doi, Y., & Watanabe, K. (2009). Mothers' feelings on taking their autistic children to a dental clinic. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(1), 13-29.
- Tamura, S. (2009). The characteristics of home health nursing provided congruent care with the family/neighborhood living at home, manifested to illuminate nurses' intentions and actions. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(1), 30-40.
- Marutani, M. (2009). The art of home care nursing respected on the history of family. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(1), 41-50.
- Makita, H., Ooishi, K., Yamamura, E., & Nakano, T. (2009). The terminal caring experiences of women who cared for their husbands at home during the terminal stages of cancer: Terminal care involving continuous support from doctors and visiting nurses. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(1), 51-57.
- Kadoma, A., Asano, M., & Nomura, N. (2009). Qualitative studies on single-mothers' child-rearing: Literature review in English 1995-2007. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(1), 58-70.
- Ikezoe, S. (2009). Family's caregiving careers: A concept analysis and examination of the usefulness to the nursing. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(1), 71-78.

Vol. 15, No. 2

- Hiratani, Y., & Hohashi, N. (2009). Family functioning of and family support to one-patient households headed by divorcees with preschoolers. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(2), 88-98.
- Higashi, K. (2009). Life-world of spouses who take care of their aged husbands or wives with terminal cancer at home: The meaning of spousal caregiving at the advanced aged. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(2), 99-106.
- Ikezoe, S., & Nojima, S. (2009). Family's caregiver career in the reconstruction of family life. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(2), 107-116.
- Fujimoto, T., Eguchi, C., Shono, I., & Toima, M. (2009). Investigation of appropriate intervention timing and intervention skills to a family with a handicapped infant. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(2), 117-128.

Vol. 15, No. 3

- Ohwaki, M., Suzuki, I., Torii, H., & Iida, Y. (2010). Provision of support to siblings of mentally-retarded children as part of a family support program. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(3), 2-10.
- Hosikawa, R., Nagato, K., & Nojima, S. (2010). Nursing intervention to support the families to solve problems. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(3), 11-17.
- Toyama, H., & Shimanouchi, S. (2010). Grief care for bereaved families of deceased home-cared elderly. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(3), 18-29.
- Mikami, Y. (2010). Relationship between health of family system and family coping: A comparison between families with and without mentally ill adult members. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(3), 30-39.
- Okubo, A. (2010). The meaning of "the place" known as the self-help group for mothers who have lost children. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(3), 40-46.
- Sahara, T., & Naito, N. (2010). A study of the Reliability and validity of the Japanese version of the Caring Behaviors Assessment Tool (CBA-J): Focusing on the care needs of women at delivery. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 15(3), 47-54.

Vol. 16, No. 1

- Sekine, M., Nagato, K., Nojima, S. (2010). The commitment of families who care for a family member with terminal cancer at home. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(1), 2-10.
- Fujioka, H. (2010). A study of mothers participating in a hospitalized intensive training program for children with disabilities and their mothers: Psychological processes. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(1), 11-20.
- Kadoma, A., Asano, M., Nomura, N. (2010). Searching for possibilities of narrative based research: Through social sufferings experienced by single mothers. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(1), 21-32.

Vol. 16, No. 2

- Nitta, N., Kawakami, C., Takagi, C., Takagi, M., Kitao, M., Tsunematsu, K., Ueda, K., Ishii, K., Fujiwara, C. (2010). Nurses' support contributes to patient's families' resilience and the factors influencing support. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(2), 46-55.
- Hiratani, Y., Hohashi, N. (2010). Family functions of child-rearing single-parent families in Japan: A comparison between single-parent families and pair-matched two-parent families. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(2), 56-70.
- Kajitani, M., Moriyama, M. (2010). A study of psychological care needs with CVA patients and family caregivers in a period of three months after diagnosis. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(2), 71-80.
- Hirose, Y., Kurashina, M., Makiuchi, A., Kaneko, T. (2010). Quality of life in school-age children with heart disease, and background factors: A study based on children's self-reports and parent-proxy reports. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(2), 81-90.
- Kubo, Y., Ohtake, M., Akama, A., Suzuki, I., Kobayashi, A., Hosoya, T., Kanoya, Y. (2010). The resilience of family caregivers of the patients with muscular dystrophy and the related factors. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(2), 91-100.

Vol. 16, No. 3

- Tokinaga, M., Nojima, S. (2011). Classification of nursing activities for families with intractable diseases living in the community. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(3), 136-146.
- Sakamoto, H., Moriyama, M., Takeshita, Y. (2011). Development of a proxy decision-making conceptual model for families to adopt the tube feeding method. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(3), 147-156.
- Asano, M., Furuzawa, A., Ohashi, Y., Yoshida, K., Kadoma, A., Yamamoto, M. (2011). Relationship between the parenting stress and children's behavioral feature, family functions and QOL in Japanese mothers of preschool children with autism spectrum disorders. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(3), 157-168.
- Yamada, A., Fujiwara, C. (2011). Perceptions of school-going children's mothers with regard to the care provider of their children in hospitals. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(3), 169-177.
- Nagai, M. (2011). Stress-coping style of caregivers for demented elderly at home. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 16(3), 178-184.

Vol. 17, No. 1

- Yasutake, A. (2011). Meta-synthesis of family experiences of patients with dementia. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 17(1), 2-12.
- Seiyama, S., Shimada, M., Adachi, T. (2011). The impact of marital relations and satisfaction with delivery on feelings toward the baby and maternal behavior. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 17(1), 13-19.
- Ishikawa, T. (2011). The user households' perspective on home nursing care: From interviews conducted with user households and welfare job care managers. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 17(1), 20-30.
- Konishi, M., Yamazaki, A., Kamibeppu, K. (2011). Nursing care and mothers' experiences regarding tube feeding for infants in NICU during the early stage of hospitalization. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 17(1), 31-41.

Vol. 17, No. 2

- Boda, H., Hatashita, H. (2012). The experiences of the husband as a first-time father from early pregnancy through one month postpartum. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 17(2), 52-63.
- Kasuga, H., Ishigaki, K. (2012). A study for the communication notebooks of visiting nurses. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 17(2), 64-74.
- Yamamoto, M., Asano, M. (2012). Communication between mothers and children with autism spectrum disorder literature review in Japan. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 17(2), 75-85.

Vol. 17, No. 3

- Kawakami, A., Ushio, R. (2012). Mothers' feelings towards healthy siblings of autistic children. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 17(3), 126-134.
- Irie, Y. (2012). A meta synthesis of qualitative research "yuragi of family" in Japanese families nursing research. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 17(3), 135-145.
- Yamaguchi, M., Furuse, M. (2012). Relationship between self-management behaviors and self-efficacy, family support status, and family functions in home mild cerebral infarction patients and their families for the prevention of recurrence. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 17(3), 146-158.
- Kimura, H., Kanzaki, N. (2012). Family caregiver's caring needs in those in state of heavy needing care who recuperate staying. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 17(3), 159-169.

Vol. 18, No. 1

- Ohashi, Y., Asano, M., Kadoma, A., Huruzawa, A. (2012). Relationship between behavioral features of children aged eighteen months and parenting stress in mothers, quality of life, and family functioning. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 18(1), 2-12.
- Nitta, N., Fujiwara, C., Ishii, K. (2012). Difficult events and resilience of mothers with children having cleft lip and palate. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 18(1), 13-24.
- Ochi, M., Nojima, S. (2012). The turning point for families of alcoholics. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 18(1), 25-36.

Vol. 18, No. 2

- Masumitsu, M., Takeda, Y. (2013). Factors associated with a sense of burden from caregiving, with a focus on family systems. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 18(2), 48-59.

Nakahira, Y., Nojima, S. (2013). A review of the concept of “family resilience.” Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 18(2), 60-72.

Isono, Y., Nojima, S. (2013). Wives coping mechanisms of alcoholic husbands: A study based on the interviews of alcoholic husbands of danshu-kai participant. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 18(2), 73-82.

Neyoshi, C., Tamura, S. (2013). The state of parents’ acceptance of their children’s autism spectrum disorder and the modes of public health nurses’ support to those parents. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 18(2), 83-94.

Kato, K., Seiko, Y. (2013). Study of communication gap between patients with progressive cancer and their families? As viewed from the perspective of the family? Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 18(2), 95-108.

Chiba, N., Ono, T. (2013). Feelings of the spouses of patients undergoing hepatic arterial embolectomy for liver cancer attributed to hepatitis C. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 18(2), 109-118.

Vol. 19, No.1

Hiratani, Y., Hohashi, N. (2013). Development of a Social Support Perception Scale for Parents Rearing Preschoolers (SSPS-P) and evaluation of its effectiveness. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 19(1), 2-11.

Saito, M., Honma, E., Makabe, A., Naito, M. (2013). Process by which mothers discover new ways of relating to their children thanks to hikikomori parents’ groups. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 19(1), 12-22.

Sakanashi, S., Oike, M. (2013). The experience of mothers whose infants underwent primary cheiloplasty. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 19(1), 23-39.

Honda, Y. (2013). Night-time care for terminal patients at home: A case study. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 19(1), 40-53.

Sumino, K., Nakatani, H., Fujimoto, H. (2013). Structures of emotions of caregiving in family caregivers for the elderly with dementia. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 19(1), 54-64.

Kanzaki, N., Kimura, H. (2013). A qualitative assessment of care experience in family healthy life ability of families caring for older adults with dementia. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 19(1), 65-74.

Vol. 19, No. 2

Furuse, M. (2014). Visiting nurses’ support for the mental uncertainty experienced by families of terminal cancer patients during care. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 19(2), 90-100.

Nishihara, M., Hattori, J., Yamaguchi, K. (2014). Changes in the lifestyles of mothers as a result of their children with severe motor and intellectual disabilities entering school. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 19(2), 101-113.

Kawahara, N., Hongo, T., Kobayashi, N. (2014). Trend of research which utilizes the concept of family resilience: Reviewing the applicability on disaster nursing practice in Japan. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 19(2), 114-123.

Kimoto, C. (2014). Characteristics of care provided by critical care nurses to families of patients with severely impaired consciousness. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 19(2), 124-135.

Kojo, K., Yoshida, Y., Itoi, S. (2014). Thoughts about support for mothers who have children requiring urethral catheterization due to spina bifida. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 19(2), 136-149.

Miyabayashi, K., Furuse, M. (2014). Analysis of self-care in family caregivers who cared for terminal cancer patients at home. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 19(2), 150-160.

Vol. 20, No. 1

- Kawaguchi, M., Hasegawa, M., Deguchi, Y. (2014). Factors associate with caregiving burden on parents of schizophrenic child, discharged from the hospital within one year. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 20(1), 2-12.
- Mizutani, S., Okada, Y., Yamaguchi, K. (2014). The support of family which acted on the emotion of first time breastfeeding mothers. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 20(1), 13-25.
- Takahashi, M., Itayama, M., Abe, Y., Tanaka, R., Amagai, M. (2014). Parents' experience of the return to home of children with schizophrenia discharged from a psychiatric ward for the first time: From an interview with parents of people with schizophrenia who continue to live in the community. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 20(1), 26-37.
- Hiratani, Y., Hohashi, N. (2014). Family functioning and perceived social support among child-rearing single-parent families. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 20(1), 38-47.

Vol. 20, No. 2

- Imai, M., Yanagihara, K. (2014). "Judgments for appropriate commitment" in family nursing practice based on ethnography of general ward. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 20(2), 56-67.
- Yasuzuka, N., Morimoto, Y., Wachi, R., Noguchi, M., Yamamoto, N. (2014). Homecare nurses' assistance for family caregivers' proxy decision making: A case of homecare nursing for assisting gastric tube use decision. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 20(2), 68-78.
- Kadoma, A. (2014). Leaving abuse behind: Mother-researcher collaborative narratives. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 20(2), 79-92.
- Kageyama, Y., Asano, M. (2014). Review of Japanese literature related to discharge planning for families (report 1): Focus on decision-making support for families regarding discharge. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 20(2), 93-105.
- Kageyama, Y., Asano, M. (2014). Review of Japanese literature related to discharge planning for families (report 2): Review of literature on discharge planning nurses and future research issues related to discharge support for families. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 20(2), 106-116.
- Nagasawa, K., Yamamura, E., Iwasimizu, T. (2014). Difficulty of informal caregiving provided by husbands to dementia patients. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 20(2), 117-124.
- Nagayoshi, M., Hirose, Y. (2014). Literature review of nursing for infants with retinoblastoma and their families in English literature. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 20(2), 125-135.

Vol. 21, No. 1

- Ono, M., Kamibeppu, K. (2015). Support for children living with mothers having severe mental illness: A qualitative analysis based on interviews with mental health personnel in psychiatric institutions. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 21(1), 2-13.
- Nagatomi, H., Hohashi, N. (2015). Family resilience and related influence factors of families with pre-school age children born with extremely low birth weight. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 21(1), 14-24.
- Uryu, H., Nojima, S. (2015). Striving together for family hardiness in families living with members suffering from neuropsychological disorder. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 21(1), 25-37.

Watanabe, H., Watanabe, K. (2015). Changes in the feelings and communication of family caregivers during their involvement with elderly individuals with mild dementia. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 21(1), 38-49.

Nakatogawa, S. (2015). Employment of people with mental disabilities and their family members' feelings on the employment, and the ideal way of support. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 21(1), 50-66.

Asai, M., Nakayama, M., Okamoto, F. (2015). Visiting nurses' recognition of the strengths of families of children with severe motor and intellectual disabilities at home. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 21(1), 67-76.

Vol. 21, No. 2

Nishihara, M., Yamaguchi, K. (2016). Mothers' involvement in the family following school enrollment of their children with disabilities. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 21(2), 118-131.

Yi, Q., Honda, J., Hohashi, N. (2016). Elder abuse in Japan: A literature review based on the Concentric Sphere Family Environment Theory. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 21(2), 132-144.

Nishimoto, Y., Hohashi, N. (2016). Family functioning during the formative period of couples who had wed following premarital pregnancy and the implications for family nursing. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 21(2), 145-157.

Wakimizu, R. (2016). Quantitative and qualitative consideration on the effects of parenting program on children with a developmental disability, parents, families who have regular visit to hospital. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 21(2), 158-170.

Takatani, S., Honda, J., Hohashi, N. (2016). A family event revealed to the family system unit in Japan's health and medical care domain: A Concept Analysis. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 21(2), 171-183.

Vol. 22, No. 1

Nakahira, Y., Nojima, S. (2016). Emergence of living system capability as family resilience in families of people with mental disorders. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 22(1), 2-14.

Hiratani, Y., Honda, J., Hohashi, N. (2016). The family intervention needs of families with children of child-rearing age residing on remote islands: Comparisons with urban families, utilizing the Japanese version of the Survey of Family Environment (SFE-J). Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 22(1), 15-25.

Yamauchi, A., Nakayama, M., Okamoto, F. (2016). Family resilience of mothers with child undergoing early infant surgery in the first year. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 22(1), 26-36.

Kataoka, E., Ito, M. (2016). A literature review of nursing care for Japanese family making decision about "do not attempt resuscitation". Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 22(1), 37-47.

Vol. 22, No. 2

Matsuzaka, Y., Arakida, M. (2017). Development of a scale facilitating the assessment of public health nurses' practical skills for family support: Analysis of reliability and validity. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 22(2), 74-86.

Inukai, T., Watanabe, K. (2017). ICU nurses' approaches for families through postmortem care. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 22(2), 87-96.

Hiratani, Y., Okuda, M., Suganaka, M., Hohashi, N. (2017). Changes in family functioning among child-rearing families resulting from a child's hospitalization: A qualitative analysis based on semi-structured interviews with children's families. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 22(2), 97-107.

Fujii, K., Ushio, R. (2017). The emotional conditions of satisfaction as the subjective basic needs among mothers of children with autism spectrum disorder. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 22(2), 108-121.

Matsuda, H., Furuse, M. (2017). Process of spousal adaptation to life with a partner who has undergone total laryngectomy. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 22(2), 122-133.

Iitsuka, M. (2017). Family members' experiences of living with a patient with a consciousness disorder caused by subarachnoid hemorrhage. Japanese Journal of Research in Family Nursing, 22(2), 134-145.